Annual 64.2009(e) CPNI Certification for 2009 covering prior calendar year 2008

March 1, 2010

Form 499 Filer ID: 827366

The undersigned certifies that he is an officer of Tactical Digital Corp., and acting as agent of the corporation I have personal knowledge that the corporation has established operating procedures that are adequate to ensure compliance with the Commissions Customer Proprietary Network Information rules.

Attached is an accompanying statement explaining how we comply with these requirements.

Tactical Digital, a small business concern, apparently became subject to CPNI certification filing October 1, 2008 when we were required to pay USF as a reseller of Audio Bridge Service and we were not aware that this requirement came along with the requirement to pay USF. We apologize for not knowing and for this late filing.

To date, we have never been contacted by a data broker therefore we have taken no action with regards to data brokers.

To date, we have never received any complaints from customers concerning unauthorized release of CPNI.

José J. Prats, Treasurer

Tactical Digital Corp.
CPNI (Customer Proprietary Network Information)
Operating Procedures for Rules Compliance
For the 2008 Fiscal Year Ending January 31, 2009
And Including January 2008

Tactical Digital is a reseller or agent for other telephone audio conferencing providers and as such keeps minimal Customer Proprietary Network Information in its possession. Customers are referred to the conferencing suppliers for customer service.

Our customers are commercial or government customers.

CPNI information is password protected and accessible only to employees. We verify that we are indeed communicating with a customer before we accept requests for information that may contain CPNI.

CPNI complaints will be documented and communicated to company officers within one business day.
